Objections to the Specification

The specification is objected to as failing to provide proper antecedent basis for the claimed subject matter. See 37 CFR 1.75(d)(1) and MPEP § 608.01(o). The specification provides no apparent basis for the “connecting member” and “connector” terminology used throughout the claims. Apparently the language is in reference to the Figure 13 element that is referred to in the specification as “a transverse bar.” Applicant is requested to amend the specification to provide a basis for the “connecting member” terminology so that the claimed structure may be readily identified in applicant’s specification.

Objection to the Claims

Claims 1-21 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(a) for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as his/her invention.

In claim 1, line 11, there is no clear antecedent basis for “the channel.”

In claim 21 the positive recital of the “at least one longitudinal member” is not understood. Line 1, of parent claim 1 expressly calls for the longitudinal member to be part of the claimed spinal fixation assembly. Parent claim 21 already requires a longitudinal member.

Obvious-type Double Patenting Rejections

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-21 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-28 of U.S. Patent No. 6,610,063 in view of Jackson et al (US 5,716,355). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the patented claims of '063 set forth the presently claimed invention (note particularly patented claim 24) with the exception of the claimed connecting member. Jackson et al, however, teach the conventional use of such connecting members (Figure 12) with spinal bone fasteners 117 so that a second rod 112 may be connected to the bone fastener (note Figure 11). To have used a connecting element such as that in Figure 12 of Jackson et al with the patented '063 fastener assembly so that a second rod could be fixed in position as taught by Jackson et al would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art.

Rejections based on Prior Art

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 22 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Jackson et al (US 5,716,355).

In Figure 12 note the Jackson et al connector having a shaft 118, the first end having a hook 129 with curved inner surface 126 for receiving a longitudinal member 112 the shaft second end has ridges to provide for a rigid non rotational lock with fastener assembly 119. In regard to claim 23, note bore 138 for set screw 124.
